Candidate Feedback

(Testimonials verified by TopRec)

There are recruiters that listen to you, and there are recruiters who hear what you say. Construction People are the latter. They are trustworthy, informed, capable and on the front foot in every aspect of the services they provide. They make an effort to ensure they place you in the best-suited opportunity.

Eva J. - Contract Administrator

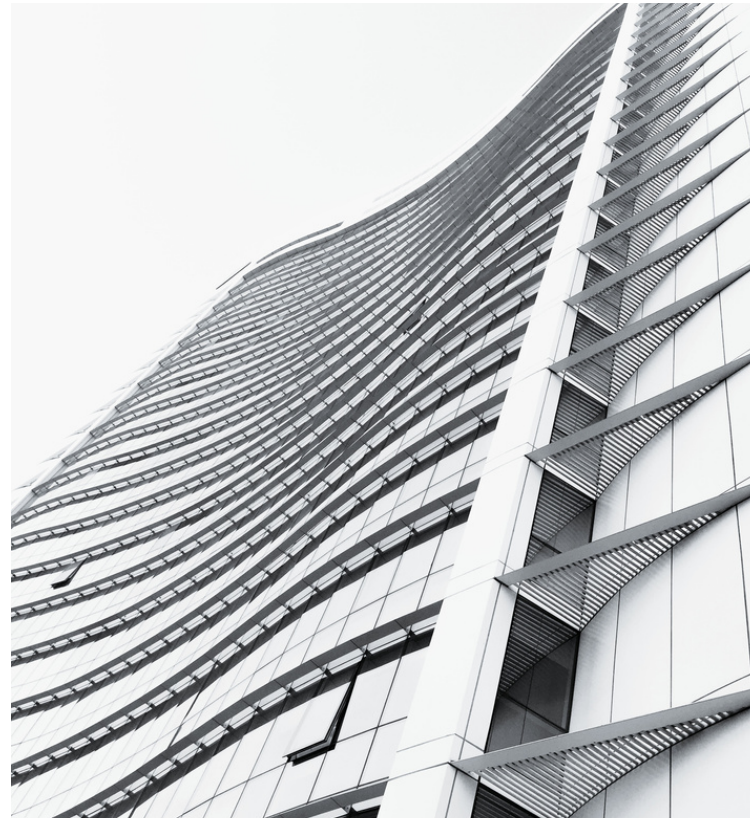

Unlike many recruiters, Todd took the time to understand my career experience, keep me informed of opportunities and realistically suggest potential roles that aligned with my skill sets. My CV was not shopped around and I always knew which employees he was talking with. I really appreciate the professionalism, mutual respect and honest approach that Todd displayed.

Jason M. - Senior Construction Manager

For over 15 years, we've been dedicated to advising, connecting and creating mutually beneficial outcomes for the individuals and organisations we work with.

Our success lies in the fact that we've set our sights on recruiting exclusively for construction, property development and project management – building a strong knowledge base and network within it.

Whether you're looking for a role in a multinational or smaller company, we can provide you with permanent and temporary career opportunities at all levels of the industry.

Who we are

Ian Richardson

Managing Director & Recruiter

Ian founded Construction People in 2008 and has since been dedicated to driving the company's growth and client relationships. Beginning his career at Hays in 2001, he now has over 20 year's recruitment experience within the construction industry.

Todd Richardson

Managing Director & Recruiter

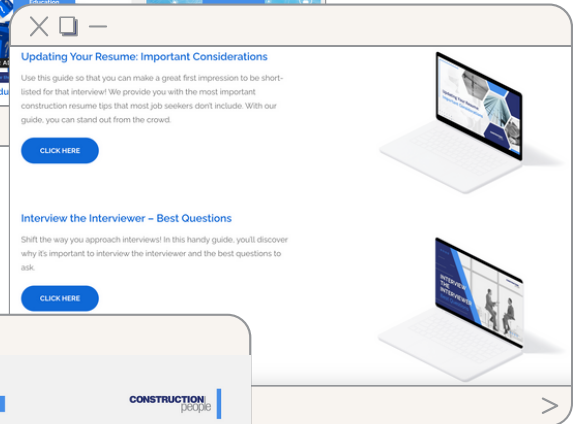

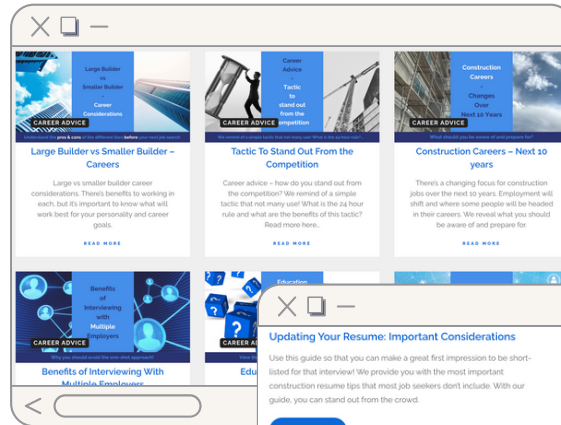

In 2010, Todd joined his brother, Ian, at Construction People, to assist with expanding services and resourcing. Coming from a financial planning background, it has always been Todd's desire to help people reach their personal and professional goals.
